Walk of Dreams at Optima Camelview Village

Bill Collova, a resident at Optima Camelview Village, was curious. As one of the first residents in the community, he had seen many residents moving in, each with their own style.

Having gone to great lengths to create a true dream home, Bill wondered about the inside of other homes within in the community.

Interior of resident Nathan Reis' condominium.

He asked the team at Optima what they thought about doing a "walk of dreams" — where others could volunteer to open their homes for a tour. Residents could sign up, there would be no cost, and it would be a great way to meet neighbors.

That is exactly what happened. Southwest Concierge, Optima Camelview Village's on-site concierge service, joined up with Optima DCHManagement to host an evening that drew approximately 130 curious residents to tour a total of eight very different — and all amazing — homes. Opening their doors were Susie and Bill Collova, Jackie and Wayne Gillis, Bella and Dave Janpolski, Wendy Jolly, Brian LaPlant, William Lewis, Nathan Reis, and Said Salari.

One by one, on-lookers were amazed by the very unique elements incorporated into the homes, each very representative of the owner's style. From wall treatments to bathtubs, no detail was overlooked in these magnificent homes.

By the end of the event, neighbors knew each other, designers were inspired, and everyone walked away with a bigger sense of community than before. That is truly what Optima Camelview Village is all about. Community. Style. Inspiration.

Thank you to everyone who made the first Walk of Dreams such a success.
