

Jan D'Atri's Blog

All About You!

April 13, 2006

Concierge not just for hotels anymore

There was an interesting segment on Good Morning America this morning about how working mothers can make the most of their time. Interestingly, there was advice for businesses that employ these women, as well.

One suggestion was for the company to hire or retain a concierge service.

This past weekend, on the radio show, we had the owner of Southwest Concierge Service call in to tell us more about what these types of services offer, and their benefits to busy working men and women. (Along with a few funny stories about strange requests!)

Boy could I have used a helping hand yesterday, when I found myself downing a cup of coffee and heading off to the store at, well I don't even want to mention the time, after going, going, going all day!

Posted 11 months, 3 days ago on April 13, 2006

The trackback url for this post is

<http://jandatri.com/blog/bblog/trackback.php/27/>

Comments have now been turned off for this post

Navigation

- Jan D'Atri Website Home
- Shop for Jan's Products
- Archives
- RSS 2.0 Feed

Blogs I Read

- Jan D'Atri Website Home
- Shop for Jan's Products
- Archives
- RSS 2.0 Feed

Blogs I Read

Props:

Powered by bBlog the free PHP Blogging script.